Poinsett's

Having for several years devoted much time to the examination and collection of the various medicinal plants, roots and herbs peculiar to peninsular Florida, the proprietor of this medicine has acquired a knowledge in this branch which is rarely obtained by those whose object alone is botanical discovery and

Until the present year, he has had no thought of compounding a botanical remedy himself, his labors having been directed to the filling of orders from abroad.

The manner in which he has been led to place himself in his present position is as follows:—A personal friend afflicted with Dysentery, having failed of obtaining relief from the regular faculty, one day addressed him thus—"It is said that every soil and clime produces an antidote for diseases peculiar to the locality; if so, you, with your knowledge of the field and wood, must know of something to relieve me."

The reply was, that he was acquainted with the properties of some plants and roots which he believed would have the desired effect; and animated with friendship, he set about the preparation of a medicine immediately. The material was gathered by his own hands, and then carefully compounded. It was completely successful—the cure was effected. The fame of this cure, spreading among a circle of friends, induced frequent applications for the medicine, until, to avoid the trouble of making a preparation each time, a quantity was made up and kept on hand to give away, without a thought of accepting a remuneration. More than one hundred cures were effected. At length, by the advice of friends, and tired of the inroads made upon his time and purse, he determined to manufacture the medicine for sale, conscious that what had proved a blessing to a few, could not lose its virtues from being offered to the many, or from having its mer-cantile price, instead of being gratuitous. This, then, is the origin of-

Poinsett's Indian Loxecust. He does not enter the field as a competitor for public favor in the ranks of Quackery. He has no dreams of building up a splendid fortune from pills and potions. Yet he does not profess to be so disinterested a philanthropist as to offer his medicine for the public good alone. He wishes and hopes to realize a fair return for his labor, and the expense to which he has been subjected. He offers no universal remedy for "the ills that flesh is heir to," but simply claims to have discovered a remedy in the vegetable king-dom for a certain kind of disease; firmly believing that when he says it will cure, he but speaks what the name of that medicine purports in the Seminole dialect-THE TRUTH

'POINSETT'S INDIAN LOXECUST.' THE MOST CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF CHRONIC DIARRHŒA

AND

DYSENTERY Which has ever been presented to the public. It stands upon its own merits, and needs no puffing. It has not failed to cure IN A SINGLE INSTANCE.

THIS Valuable preparation is compounded from several medicinal roots growing in the Wilds of Florida. It is PURELY and WHOLLY Vegetable, and designed ESPECIALLY for the cure of the above disease. The Inventor and Proprietor is fully convinced that it is an invaluable Medicine. In fact the test that he has given it in the town in which he resides, and the astonishing success with which it has more warrants. in the town in which he resides, and the astonIshing success with which it has met, warrants him in saying that it is a POSITIVE CURE. He has therefore come to the determination to place it within the reach of all, knowing how many suffer with this very unpleasant and often dangerous Disease, particularly in the Southern and Western States.

In purchasing my "Indian Loxecust" be particular and look for my written signature on the label.

In contact the second as severe Diarrhoea by the use of your most valuable medicine called Indian Loxecust, after suffering for more than 12 months with that distressing disease. I take pleasure in recommending your most valuable medicine to all similarly afflicted.

TESTIMONIALS.

SEVEN CASES CURED!!! SIX MIIE CREEK, FLA., Dec. 9, 1851.

Mr Poinsett,
Sir: For the benefit of the afflicted you can sublish the following—I have had seven cases of the Diarrheea on my plantation this season; all of which have been cured by the use of your most which have been cured by the use of your most which have been cured by the use of your most which have been cured by the use of your most already and in the property of the prope valuable medicine called Indian Loxecust.
Yours respectfully, JOHN PRICE, Jr.

Black Creek, Fla., Feb. 1st, 1852. Dear Sir—Some time since a member of my family was very ill, indeed, with a Diarrhea. I resorted to several things usually given for the Disease, but none of them would afford uny relief. Your Indian Loxecust was recommended by several persons; I made up my mind to try it, and am very clad I did so, as one Battle effected and am very glad I did so, as one Bottle effected a cure. You will please publish this—as such a valuable Medicine ought to be known to the public. Spread it far and near in order that the afflicted may find relief. Yours, &c.,

Jacksonville, May 6th, 1851. This is to certify it is with much pleasure that I announce to the Public that I have been effectually cured of the distressing complaint called Dysentery, by the highly recommended remedy of Mr. E. Poinsett. I had resorted to many things, but of no avail; I was induced to try his very palatable and pleasant Medicine, and to my great satisfaction was completely cured within a few days, and have not been troubled since with tha so much dreaded disease.

I am happy to say other immediate cures have

To E. Poinsett, Esq. Jacksonville, May 21, 1851

Dear Sir: I consider it to be a matter of duty to inform you that I had been laboring under a very violent attack of Diarrhoea, which baffled the skill of two Physicians, and rendered me unable to do any work. But fortunately, when about to give up all hope of ever obtaining relief I heard of your "INDIAN LOXECUST," and the use of five Bottles has entirely restored me to health.

I take much pleasure to recommend your Medicine to all those who may be similarly afflicted. Yours, &c., BENJAMIN DAVID. To E Poinsett, Esq.

Jacksonville, June 27, I851.

Dear Sir: I am entirely relieved of my complaint, thanks to you for your "INDIAN LOXE-CUST," it is the best I have ever used for the disease, and I feel happy in recommending it to the public.

Yours, truly,

GEORGE COULTER.

Dear Sir—Some time since I was on a visit near your place, and was suddenly taken very sick. Your Indian Loxecust was recommended. The friend that I was visiting happened to have a bottle of it in the house, and I used it, and take pleasure in informing you that it cured me. I am averse to having my name in print, but still, for the benefit of those that may be afflicted, you can publish this if you think it necessary. publish this if you think it necessary.

Dear Sir: Your Indian Loxecust is a good medicine. Some time since I purchased a bottle from A M. Reed, Esq., your agent, and gave it to one of my negroes that had suffered very much from a severe attack of Dysentery. It cured him. Soon afterwards I had another negro attacked with the same disease. I purchased another bottle, and it cured him also.

I do not hesitate a moment in recommending your Indian Loxecust to the public, as being the most certain remedy for Dysentery that I have ever used, or heard of. If you see proper, you can publish this.

Yours truly,

MILES PRICE.
